To Whom It May Concern:

OSHA can't solve what it perceives to be a health problem simply by afflicting us with additional rules and regulations. I wanted to write to give you my input on the OSHA smoking regulations now being considered.

Business owners don't deserve the burden of new regulations like the ones you are considering. A set of regulations like this will be felt mainly by the small businessman.

The small business person's plight is enough of a struggle without having these regulations to deal with. I am able to effectively run my business of a number of employees so, I don't need the government interfering. I urge you to vote no on further regulations.

Cordially,
